Climate Change, Violence and Health International Global Health Summerschool Alumni Network Conference

August 18th–19th, 2017

Evangelische Schule Berlin-Zentrum, Wallstraße 32, 10179 Berlin

Dear Global Health Alumnis

The Global Health Alumni Network, the Institute for Social medicine, Epidemiology and Health Economics (Charité Universitätsmedizin Berlin) and IPPNW Germany offer a one Day Global Health Summer School Alumni Network Conference.

Based on this year's topic of climate change, we will be guided through the day by the theme of crisis, migration and climate change, as a thematically nexus to previous Summer Schools.

The alumni network programme offers two key note lectures on climate change, conflict and migration. Additionally, we open up several workshop areas and stages providing interactive sessions with hands-on insights and possibilities for exchange throughout the conference day.

Objective and Course structure

The Alumni Network Conference is meant to be a platform for exchange between participants of previous Summer Schools and the new participants. We want to create an interactive space for meeting like minded people, to swap ideas for action and to learn from each other. As an inspiration, alumnis are encouraged to present how they already made or could make use of their obtained knowledge during knowledge during previous Summer Schools.

We encourage all Global Health Summer School alumni to get in touch and contribute to the conference. We are looking forward to welcoming you at our one-day hub of exchange and inspiration.

Key Note I - Prof. Dr. Jürgen Scheffran

Prof. Dr. Jürgen Scheffran is a climate, security and conflict researcher at the Institute of Geography of the University Hamburg. In his workshop he is going to speak about the nexus of climate change, social stress and violent conflict, and migration from an interdisciplinary perspective including physics, geography, as well as peace and conflict research.

Key Note II – Peter Donatus

Peter Donatus is an environmental and human rights activist focusing on the environmental exploitation of the Niger Delta and the social, health and economical consequences for people living in this area. With many insights from his field research he is going to talk about Ecocide and the global relations between the global north and south.

Participants workshops

In this session we are going to learn from former participants about how they could use the knowledge gained in the summer school they attended in practice. Alumnis are going to present their practical experience from the field.

World Café

The method “World Café” enables participants to share their thoughts, ideas and questions about the topic of the day in informal small groups. The participants can individually choose a table of their interest and thus the questions to discuss supported by a table moderator. There will be two discussion rounds during a set time. The summarized results from the diverse discussions are going to be presented briefly by the table moderators at the plenum later on.
